Profile: Joel McKerrow

Joel is an award-winning writer, speaker, educator and one of Australia's most successful performance poets. Joel is an Artist Ambassador for TEAR Australia and was co-founder of the Centre for Poetics and Justice. He represented Australia at the Individual World Poetry Slam Championships in the USA and has performed in venues from the Nuyorican Poets Cafe to the Sydney Opera House.

He is a TEDx speaker and the frontman poet for the band, 'Joel McKerrow & the Mysterious Few'.

Joel has released three albums, three books, and has an extensive list of writing credits as well as a Theatre production. His latest book, "Woven: a Faith for the Dissatisfied" is a personal journey of losing a faith that was too small (and looked too much like us) to a faith that is much grander, more wholistic and inclusive.

Joel teaches on the intersection of spiritual formation, social justice, creativity and identity, and has become known worldwide for being an experienced practitioner and thinker in personal formation.
