Sandy Dickinson

Sandy Dickinson is a Geelong based musician, playing the Handpan – a recent instrument that traces its origins back to the steelpan, which emerged in the 1930s in Trinidad and Tobago.

Sandy plays regularly at the Old Fyansford Paper Mill, and has performed at different events, including the International Day of Peace Celebration, Geelong After Dark, and Global Women's Peace Network. Also, having played regularly as part of the St. John of God art music therapy program to patients recovering in hospital has been a rewarding way to include volunteering into her music. Each time she plays the Handpan, it's an offering of meditation and exploration of the moment.

Sandy has played Handpan for over 10 years and is a passionate supporter of meditative environments.

Her work as an Allied Health Therapy Assistant, working with genU, supports her love of celebrating people in all our diversity and stages of life.
