Profile: Archie Beetle

Archie Beetle (they/them) is a storyteller, advocate, and the founder of Queer Town, a queer-led organisation driving change through education, advocacy, and digital content. Their work helps create safer, more inclusive workplaces, schools, and communities. With 16 years of activism and advocacy, Archie has worked alongside communities and institutions to foster real change—establishing LGBTIQ+ working groups, influencing policy shifts, and sparking vital conversations. By sharing their personal story and lived expertise, they educate, connect with new audiences, and challenge perspectives.

Through honesty, humour, and vulnerability, Archie breaks down barriers and creates judgment-free spaces where people feel empowered to take action.
