Profile: Laura Billings

Laura Billings is the Development Director for Parents for Climate, where she leads the growth and engagement of over 22,000 supporters and 25 local groups nationwide. Previously, she served as National Community Organiser, empowering over 25 parent-led groups to advocate for bold climate action in their communities, media, businesses and with politicians. In her spare time Laura also co-organises the Geelong-Bellarine-Surf Coast group. Laura's journey into the climate movement began only 5 years ago when she fully grasped the urgency of the crisis and realised this decade is pivotal for protecting her children's future. This profound awareness drove her to make an abrupt career change, dedicating herself to ensuring that parents have a voice in shaping the policies that will safeguard their kids from the worst impacts of climate change. She believes that a parent's love is one of the most powerful forces for change, what won't we do for our children? Guided by the motto, "If not now, then when? If not me, then who?" Laura inspires other parents to step up, take action, and fight for the safe climate future their children deserve.
